Important Information

RECTORY SUMMER HOURS: The rectory will be closed on Fridays during the months of July & August.

Outreach Needs

Our parish Outreach is in need of food to replenish their emergency food closet. With the state of today's economy the need is now greater than it has been before. We especially need peanut butter, macaroni & cheese, vegetables, juice, and instant potatoes. We have 2 freezers and 1 refrigerator for perishables. Our hours for the summer are Mon., Tues., & Thurs. 9AM-1PM. If that is not convenient, call us at 281-5634 to make other arrangements. You can leave non-perishables only at the Church. Anything you can donate will be greatly appreciated and put to good use. God bless you all for your generosity.

St. Vincent de Paul

In the Gospel for the 12th Sunday in Ordinary Time, we hear, Jesus calms the sea and then asks the disciples "Why are you lacking in faith." In our life's journey, we also must learn to believe in God's presence and to trust in his care. This month, through your gifts, the 'Society of St. Vincent de Paul' was able to continue to show God's love and care to others by assisting families in our area.

Catholic Men's Ministry

'St. Jude Catholic Men's Ministry' meets the second and fourth Tuesday of the month at 7PM in the parish center. All men are welcome to attend.

The Legion of Mary

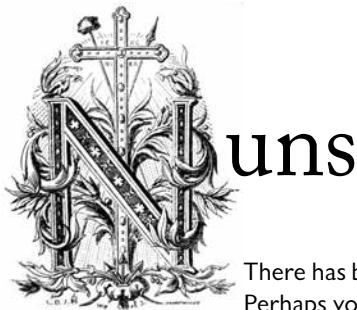

Meets on Fridays at 10:30AM in the parish center 1st floor classroom. We welcome anyone who may wish to join us.

St. Francis Statue—Eagle Scout Project

THE SEVEN PILLARS OF CATHOLIC SPIRITUALITY – MATTHEW KELLY
Would you like to deepen your faith? Matthew Kelly will help you to revitalize your spiritual life by taking you on the adventure of a lifetime! In a bold, practical and inspiring way, he will help you rediscover the true meaning of life as expressed in the seven pillars of authentic Catholic spirituality. Copies of Rediscover Catholicism books are available in the rectory for $5.

There has been more than a bit of attention recently in the media about the “Vatican persecution” of American nuns. Perhaps you are aware of this, and (understandably) confused. Many of the newspaper articles and radio, television, and cyber reports that have been related would lead us to believe that “the big, bad, nasty Vatican” is trying to discredit and subdue all the religious sisters of various orders who lovingly taught us to: love God; that Jesus is present in the Blessed Sacrament; and that our Blessed Mother Mary intercedes for sinners, among the beautiful beliefs and teachings of the Catholic Church.

Why, we ask, is the Vatican doing such a horrible thing to our beloved and dedicated nuns???

As a matter of clarification, the word “nun,” while commonly used to designate any professed religious woman, quite technically signifies a woman who has taken final vows in a monastery, is bound to the cloister, and has little or no direct interaction with the outside world. Those professed women religious who teach, work with the sick, the poor, and the elderly, whom we usually refer to as “nuns” are more correctly known as (religious) Sisters.

All those in religious orders (i.e.: Franciscans, Dominicans, Josephites, Jesuits, Carmelites...), whether sisters or brothers, take vows of poverty, chastity, and obedience. (Parish [diocesan/secular] priests make promises of celibacy and obedience.) While each respective religious order has its own Rule and Constitution, ultimately all of those who are professed and/or ordained submit themselves in fidelity to Jesus Christ and His Holy Catholic Church. When that fidelity is broken in a very public way by an individual or group who is in a position of visible authority and leadership, it becomes all the more scandalous, confusing and misleading to the faithful who have a right to true Catholic teaching, especially in the areas of faith and morals.

The Leadership Conference of Women Religious (LCWR) claims to represent all of the 57,000 women religious sisters in the United States. Most of the sisters I know personally would say that the LCWR does not truly represent what they believe about themselves, Jesus Christ and the Church. A good assessment of this complicated and confusing situation was made by journalist/author Colleen Carroll Campbell in the June 12, 2012 New York Times Opinion Pages:

Catholic religious sisters as a group are rightly revered for their faith and good works. If the Vatican were bullying them, or criticizing their organizations without cause, such moves would and should backfire.

But that’s not what’s going on. Contrary to the prevailing news media narrative about do-gooder nuns persecuted by mean old grumps in Rome, the Vatican’s recent moves to discipline dissident religious sisters are not groundless reprimands or patriarchal power grabs. Nor are they intended to paint all American religious sisters with the same broad brush.

Catholic officials are free to object when certain writings or actions misrepresent or contradict church teaching.

Both the Vatican’s proposed reform of the Leadership Conference of Women Religious and its rebuke of a controversial book written by the theologian Sister Margaret Farley are targeted critiques intended to fulfill one of the Catholic hierarchy’s most vital functions: defense of the deposit of faith. That defense necessarily entails public clarification about what does and does not constitute authentic Catholic teaching.

It’s not surprising that leaders of the conference and ideological allies of Sister Farley would resent such clarification. It’s easier to complain about imagined persecution from the Vatican than to explain how the Leadership Conference of Women Religious – which was formed at the Vatican’s request and officially answers to the Vatican – can justify its decades-long drift from fundamental Catholic doctrine. On everything from the sanctity of human life to the centrality of Jesus and the validity of the Mass, the conference has been moving, as a keynote speaker at its 2007 national assembly put it, “beyond the Church or even beyond Jesus,” for decades. Many lay Catholics—not to mention those American religious sisters whose vibrant, growing and overwhelmingly youthful religious orders left the Leadership Conference of Women Religious in 1992 to form an alternative umbrella organization—believe it’s high time that Rome called the conference to account.

The same goes for Sister Farley’s book. American academics are free to write what they wish about Catholic teaching, but Catholic officials are free to object when those writings misrepresent or contradict Church teaching. In doing so, they are serving Catholic parents and students who have a right to know which theological works faithfully represent Catholic doctrine and which do not.

Catholic religious sisters enjoy renown not only because of who they are as individuals but because of what they represent as a group: a public witness to the truths of the faith and the unity of the Church. When their individual actions contradict that witness, Church officials have a duty to speak up—even when doing so makes for problematic public relations.

I hope this gives more balanced perspective to a “hot” issue that anti-Catholic and dissident Catholic journalists and reporters are latching on to as a means of demonizing Vatican officials and legitimate Church authority. In other words, they are deploying a smoke screen for the main purpose of undermining Church authority and our Catholic Faith. The overwhelming majority of religious sisters are faithful and dedicated to Christ and the Church; in this case of the LCWR, however, a very small minority who are prominent, vocal, and in positions of power—and looking to sell books—are not.

Fortnight for Freedom

Join us in prayer in support of religious freedom. Solemn Vespers on Friday, June 22nd at 8PM and at the Closing Mass on Wednesday July 4th at 12:10PM both will be celebrated at 'St. Agnes Cathedral' located at 29 Quealy Place in Rockville Center. The Masses will also be televised on Telecare Cablevision Ch. 29 and Fios Ch. 296. For more information visit www.drvc.org.

The bishops called for a "Fortnight for Freedom," a 14-day period of prayer, education and action in support of religious freedom, from June 22–July 4th. The fourteen days from the vigil June 22nd on the the Feasts of Saint John Fisher and Saint Thomas More ending on July 4th, Independence Day, are dedicated to this "fortnight for freedom"—a great hymn of prayer for our country.

The Liturgical Calendar celebrates a series of great martyrs who remained faithful in the face of persecution by political power—Saint John Fisher and Saint Thomas More, Saint John the Baptist, Sts. Peter and Paul, and the First Martyrs of the Church of Rome. Culminating on Independence Day, this special period of prayer, study, catechesis and public action would emphasize both our Christian and American heritage of liberty.

Listed below are opportunities for individual participation:

PRAYER. Whether you choose to say the Rosary daily, or pray the novena for Religious Liberty for those two weeks, or simply pray the Prayer for Religious Freedom, make a diligent effort to commit to daily prayer during these two weeks.

ATTEND DAILY MASS. Offer a Mass during the week for religious liberty. If you are unable to make it to Mass every day, commit to once or twice a week during the two-week period.

EDUCATION. Read the bulletin inserts provided by your parish and go online to www.drvc.org and uscbb.org for additional information on the issue of religious freedom.

EDUCATE OTHERS. Share what you read and discover with your family, friends and neighbors. Religious freedom is an American issue, not just a Catholic issue.

FAST or make an appropriate act of reparation during this two-week period, such as meatless Fridays or a fast day on Wednesdays.

PARTICIPATE IN PARISH, DIOCESAN AND STATE EVENTS. If possible, try to attend some of the public events scheduled in your area.

DISPLAY THE AMERICAN FLAG. Religious freedom is a right granted to all Americans in the First Amendment of the U.S. Constitution. Proudly display the American flag on or near your home.

INCORPORATE PRAYER INTO YOUR MEETINGS. If there is a prayer said at your already scheduled business or civic meetings, pray for religious freedom.

Prayer for Religious Freedom

Almighty God, Father of all nations, for freedom you have set us free in Christ Jesus (Gal. 5:1) We praise and bless you for the gift of religious liberty, the foundation of human rights, justice, and the common good. Grant to our leaders the wisdom to protect and promote our liberties; by your grace may we have the courage to defend them, for ourselves and for all those who live in this blessed land. We ask this through the intercession of Mary Immaculate, our patroness, and in the name of your Son, our Lord Jesus Christ, in the unity of the Holy Spirit, with whom you live and reign, one God, forever and ever, Amen.
